DIVERSITY POLICY

1. Overview

The Board of Directors of Vectus Biosystems Limited (Vectus or the Company) is responsible for the overall management of the Company, including guidance as to strategic direction, ensuring best practice corporate governance and oversight of management. The Company recognises that people are one of its most important assets, and is committed to the maintenance and promotion of workplace diversity.

The Company believes that the pursuit of diversity in the workplace increases its ability to attract, retain and develop the best talent available, creates an engaged workforce, delivers the highest quality services to its customers, enhances individual work-life balance, encourages personal achievement, improves co-operation and assists in the optimisation of organisational performance. Diversity in the workplace should mirror the diversity of the broader community, encompassing age, gender, ethnicity, cultural and other personal factors. The Company respects the diversity of all employees, consultants and contractors, and cultivates an environment of fairness, respect and equal opportunity.

The Company has developed, and the Remuneration and Nomination Committee and the Board have formally approved, a Diversity Policy that describes the Company's commitment to ensuring a diverse mix of skills and talent exists amongst its Directors, officers and employees, to enhance the Company's performance. The Diversity Policy addresses equal opportunities in the hiring, training and career advancement of Directors, officers and employees. It outlines the process by which the Board will set measurable objectives to achieve the aims of its Diversity Policy, with particular focus on gender diversity, within the Company. The Board is responsible for monitoring Company performance in meeting the Diversity Policy requirements, including the achievement of diversity objectives.

2. Scope

The Company's vision for diversity incorporates a number of different factors, including gender, ethnicity, disability, age and educational experience. At a Board and senior management level, gender has been identified as a key area of focus for the Company. Accordingly, a primary focus of this Policy is achieving, over a reasonable transition period, adequate representation of women in senior management positions and on the Board.

The strategies outlined below aim to achieve the objectives of this Policy by:

- setting measurable objectives relating to gender at all senior management and leadership levels;
- broadening the field of potential candidates for senior management and Board appointments;
- increasing the transparency of the Board appointment process; and
- embedding the extent to which the Board has achieved the objective of this Policy in the evaluation criteria for the annual Board performance evaluation.

3. Promoting Diversity

In order to facilitate greater diversity in management and leadership roles, the Company will:

- introduce and supplement the measures outlined in this Policy;
- implement policies that address impediments to diversity in the workplace (including parental leave and flexible working arrangements that assist employees to fulfil their domestic responsibilities), and review these policies to ensure that they are available to, and utilised at, senior management levels; and
- monitor the effectiveness of, and continue to expand on, existing initiatives designed to identify, support and develop talented women and employees from a diverse range of backgrounds.

It is the responsibility of the Board to foster an environment where:

- individual differences are respected;
- access to employment, rewards and training opportunities is based on performance, skill and merit; and
- inappropriate attitudes, behaviours and stereotypes are confronted and eliminated.

4. Measurable Objectives

It is the Company's objective to provide a fair and equitable workplace, free from discrimination related to age, gender, ethnic, cultural or other personal factors, in which diversity enhances Company performance and shareholder value. The Company encourages diversity at all levels of the organisation as a means of facilitating an appropriate mix of skills and talent to conduct its business. Active management of diversity in the workplace involves recognising and valuing the unique contribution people can make because of their individual backgrounds, different skills, experiences and perspectives.

Each year the Board is required to set measurable objectives with a view to progressing towards a balanced representation of women at a Board and senior management level. Performance against these objectives is reviewed annually by the Remuneration and Nomination Committee, as part of its annual review of the effectiveness of this Policy. Subject to the size and operations of the Company, the Board is committed to setting measurable objectives for the long-term goal of improving gender representation across all levels of the organisation. The Board will include in the annual Corporate Governance Statement:

- a summary of the Company's progress towards achieving the measurable objectives set under this Policy for the year to which the annual Corporate Governance Statement relates; and
- details of the measurable objectives set under this Policy for the subsequent financial year.

5. Gender Representation Review

On at least an annual basis, the Remuneration and Nomination Committee reviews the proportion of women who are employed by the Company as a whole, in senior management positions and on the Board. The Remuneration and Nomination Committee reports to the Board, outlining its findings. The Company discloses in its annual Corporate Governance Statement the proportion of women employees in the Company as a whole, in senior management and on the Board.

6. Recruitment, Selection and Succession Planning

The Company provides equal opportunities in respect to employment and employment conditions, including:

- Hiring: The Board ensures that appropriate selection criteria, based on diverse skills, experience and perspectives, are used when recruiting new staff and Directors. Job specifications, advertisements, application forms and contracts will not contain any direct or inferred discrimination.
- Training: All internal and external training opportunities will be based on merit, and Company and individual needs. The Board will consider senior management training and executive mentoring programmes to develop skills and experience to prepare employees for senior management and Board positions.
- Career Advancement: All decisions associated with career advancement, including promotions, transfers, and other assignments, will meet the Company's needs, and be determined on skill and merit.
- Work Environment: The Company will ensure that all officers, employees, consultants and contractors have access to a work environment that is free from harassment and unwanted conduct in relation to personal circumstances or characteristics. Directors, managers and supervisors will ensure that complainants or reports of sexual, racial or other harassment are treated seriously, confidentially and sympathetically by the Company.

The Remuneration and Nomination Committee is responsible for the development and succession planning process for the Managing Director / CEO / Executive Director and their direct reports. In discharging this responsibility, the Remuneration and Nomination Committee will have regard to diversity criteria.

Whilst skills such as leadership and previous experience as a CEO, Chairman or Board member of an ASX-listed or healthcare organisation, preferably with international operations, have traditionally been prerequisites to an appointment as a Vectus Director, the Board recognises that other skills gained from experience in the following areas are key skills and experience that the Board as a whole should comprise:

- marketing and sales;
- policy and regulatory development and reform;
- health, safety and environment, and social responsibility; and
- human resources.

The Board will develop and disclose a Board appointment process, which includes selection criteria having regard to the skills and experience outlined above, and the selection process for senior management positions. The Board will develop a Skills Matrix to help with the identification of the skills on the Board and also to isolate any skills that are required when consideration is given to new Board appointments.

The Remuneration and Nomination Committee is responsible for identifying qualified individuals for appointment to the Board. In identifying candidates, the Remuneration and Nomination Committee will have regard to the selection criteria set out in the Board appointment process, which will include:

- skills, expertise and background that add to and complement the range of skills, expertise and background of the existing Directors, as identified in the Skills Matrix;

- diversity; and
- the extent to which the candidate would fill a present need on the Board.

7. Compliance with Policy

The Board proactively monitors Company performance in meeting the standards and policies outlined in this Policy. This includes an annual review of the diversity objectives set by the Board, and its progress in achieving them. The Board considers setting key performance indicators for the Board, the Managing Director / CEO / Executive Director and senior executives that are linked to the achievement of the diversity objectives set by the Board.

It is the responsibility of all Directors, officers, employees, consultants and contractors to comply with the Company's Diversity Policy, and report violations or suspected violations. Any breach of compliance with this Diversity Policy is to be reported directly to the Managing Director / CEO / Executive Director, Chairman or Deputy Chairman, as appropriate. Anyone breaching this Diversity Policy may be subject to disciplinary action, including termination.

8. Disclosure of Policy

A summary of this Policy and the Company's achievement of the Policy's objectives are disclosed in the annual Corporate Governance Statement, as released to the ASX and uploaded to the Company's website.

- 16.2 Non-Executive Directors do not participate in remuneration schemes designed for Executive Directors.

17. Termination Payments

Where applicable, termination payments must be agreed in advance and must contain clearly-defined provisions regarding the consequences of early termination. The termination payments of the Company's Managing Director / CEO / Executive Director must always be agreed in advance.

18. Access to Information

18.1 In order to ensure the Board is able to discharge its responsibilities properly, the Committee established a process whereby Directors:

- can seek and obtain independent professional advice, at the expense of the Company, when they judge that such advice is necessary, after discussion with the Company's Chairman and his approval is granted;
- are encouraged to, and in fact actively, request additional information where they consider that the information supplied by internal or external sources is insufficient to allow them to make informed decisions; and
- can access the Company Secretary whenever required.

19. Reporting

19.1 Reporting to the Board

The Committee must report to the Board, at the first Board meeting subsequent to each Committee meeting, regarding the proceedings of each Committee meeting, and the outcomes of the Committee's reviews, recommendations and any other relevant issues.

19.2 Annual Corporate Governance Statement

The Committee must provide the Board with advice and recommendations regarding the appropriate material and disclosures to be included in the annual Corporate Governance Statement to be released to the ASX and to be disclosed in the Corporate Governance section of the Company's website in so far as it relates to the Company's nomination policies and procedures, information concerning the Directors, the performance evaluation of the Board, and remuneration policies and procedures.

20. Review of the Charter

20.1 This Charter shall be reviewed annually and revised by the Board as required.

SECURITIES TRADING POLICY

Securities Trading and Trading Windows

Vectus Biosystems Limited (Vectus or the Company) has a Securities Trading Policy under which Directors, members of senior management and other employees likely to be in possession of unpublished price-sensitive information, and their associates (Designated Officers), may not trade in the Company's securities during the following "Blackout or Closed Periods" commencing:

- 30 days prior to the release by the Company of its half-yearly results to the ASX and concluding two days after such release; and
- 30 days prior to the release by the Company of its annual results to the ASX and concluding two days after such release.

In addition, consistent with the law, Designated Officers are prohibited from trading in the Company's securities while in the possession of unpublished price-sensitive information concerning the Company. Unpublished price-sensitive information is information regarding the Company, of which the market is not aware, that a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of the Company's securities.

Notice of an intention to trade must be given in writing to the Vectus Managing Director / CEO / Executive Director (or Chairman or Deputy Chairman in the case of the Directors) prior to trading in the Company's securities, as well as a confirmation that the person is not in possession of any unpublished price-sensitive information. The completion of any such trade by a Director must also be notified immediately in writing to the Company Secretary who in turn advises the ASX.

General

The purpose of the Securities Trading Policy is to create awareness among Vectus' Directors, employees and key consultants of the legal prohibition on dealing in securities of the Company. It details the manner in which the Company's Directors, employees and key consultants can deal in the Company's securities. The Policy also aims to ensure that the Company's reputation, and those of its Directors, employees and key consultants, is not adversely impacted by perceptions of dealing at inappropriate times. The Policy's rules are designed to assist in preventing breaches of the insider trading provisions of the Corporations Act. Ultimately it is the responsibility of the Company's Directors, employees and key consultants to ensure that none of their dealings could constitute insider trading.

Directors are required to provide in writing (electronic notification or clearance by email is permitted) details of all changes to their interest in the Company's securities registered in the name of the Director or held on behalf of the Director, directly or indirectly. If changes in interests in those Company securities or contracts are traded during a Blackout or Closed Period, where prior written notice is required under the ASX Listing Rules, the Director must provide the following details in writing (electronic notification or clearance by email is permitted) to the Company:

- whether prior written notice was provided to allow the trade to proceed during this Blackout or Closed Period; and
- if prior written notice was provided, the date this was provided.

The details must be provided as soon as reasonably possible after the date of the change and in any event no later than two business days after the change to allow for compliance with the ASX Listing Rule obligations using an ASX Appendix 3Y release.

Appendix G

CONTINUOUS DISCLOSURE POLICY

Under the Corporations Act, a failure to make a disclosure under ASX Listing Rule 3.1, intentionally or recklessly, amounts to a criminal offence, and may result in a fine of $100,000 for a corporation. In addition, individuals who are “involved” in the contravention (which would include officers or advisers who aid, abet, counsel, procure or are knowingly concerned in the contravention) are also liable. The maximum penalty for individuals is $20,000 or imprisonment for five years, or both. A negligent failure to make a disclosure under ASX Listing Rule 3.1 is a contravention of the Corporations Act, but will not amount to a criminal offence. A civil liability arises if the failure to disclose is intentional, reckless or negligent. A person who suffers loss or damage as a result of such failure may recover that loss or damage from Vectus Biosystems Limited (Vectus or the Company), or against “any person involved in the contravention”. This could include the Directors or Executive Officers of Vectus.

The ASX Listing Rules provide that Vectus does not need to disclose information under ASX Listing Rule 3.1 if each of the following is satisfied:

1. One or more of the following five situations applies (ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.1) –
 - It would be a breach of a law to disclose the information;
 - The information concerns an incomplete proposal or negotiation;
 - The information comprises matters of supposition, or is insufficiently definite to warrant disclosure;
 - The information is generated for the internal management purposes of the entity; or
 - The information is a trade secret; and
2. The information is confidential and ASX has not formed the view that the information has ceased to be confidential (ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.2); and
3. A reasonable person would not expect the information to be disclosed (ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.3).

The above exemption from the requirement to make disclosure only operates while all three elements are satisfied. If any of the requirements cease to be satisfied, the entity must disclose the information immediately. If information that has not been disclosed by relying on the exemption becomes known in some way to participants in the market, then it must be given to the ASX for release to the market, as it would no longer satisfy the confidentiality requirement. It does not matter how the information became known by the market.

The three elements that must be established for information to be exempt from disclosure:

- One of the Five Points in ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.1

One of the five points in ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.1 must also be established. These points are listed above (i.e.1.).
- Confidentiality (ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.2)

ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.2 requires that the information that is not to be disclosed be confidential. “Confidential” in this context has the sense of secret and generally implies control by Vectus of the use that can be made of the information.

The mere fact that a confidentiality agreement has been entered into will not automatically satisfy this element. Confidential means that no-one in possession of the information is entitled to trade in Vectus’ shares. Unusual activity in Vectus’ shares may suggest that the information is no longer confidential.

The ASX accepts that confidentiality is not breached if information is given to Vectus' advisers, a person with whom Vectus is negotiating, or other regulatory authorities, if it is given on a basis that restricts its use to the stated purpose.

- A reasonable person would not expect the information to be disclosed (ASX Listing Rule 3.1A.3)

A reasonable person would not expect information to be disclosed if the result would be to cause unreasonable prejudice to the entity. Similarly, a reasonable person would not expect disclosures of an inordinate amount of detail.

Vectus' Policy

All share price-sensitive information is to be released to the market as soon as practicable. The Company's Directors will regularly meet to discuss corporate developments and to ensure that the market is fully informed and this matter will be an agenda item for each Board meeting. Any significant matters that arise from which questions on whether or when disclosure to the ASX should be made are to be considered by the Executive Directors, the Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the Company, the Chairman of the Audit and Risk Management Committee, and the Company Secretary. The Vectus share price and trading volumes are to be monitored, and any unusual patterns are to be brought to the attention of the parties mentioned above and to the Board if necessary.

ASX Policy – Guidance Note

The ASX has issued a Guidance Note in relation to ASX Listing Rule 3.1. The ASX states that the Guidance Note 8 (updated on 1 May 2013) is only a guide as to ASX practice, and that entities should contact the ASX to discuss their particular circumstances and the application of the ASX Listing Rules.

It is ASX policy that whatever the information, and however much it might otherwise have been reasonable not to disclose it, the information should be released to the whole market once it becomes known to any part of the market.

- Disclosure of Information to Brokers and the Press

ASX Listing Rule 15.7 has the effect that Vectus must not release information that is to be released to the market to any person (including the media, even on an embargoed basis) until it has given the information to the ASX and has received an acknowledgement that the ASX has released it to the market.

With respect to broker analysts, the ASX states that a company must only disclose public information in answering an analyst's questions, or reviewing their draft reports. The ASX states that it is inappropriate for a question to be answered, or a report corrected, if doing so involves providing material information that is not public. The ASX states that when analysts visit the company, care should be taken to ensure that they do not obtain material information that is not public.

- Internal Disclosure

Employees will have access to information that is confidential. The employees with such access should be made aware of its confidential nature. The ASX notes that companies should ensure that confidential information does not find its way into "in house" publications.

Insider Trading and “Tipping”

The Corporations Act prohibits the following conduct:

- A person (the “insider”) trading in shares while in possession of information that is not “generally available” to the market, but which if it became “generally available”, could reasonably be expected to materially affect the price of Vectus’ shares.
- A person communicating non-public, price-sensitive information to another person who is likely to trade in Vectus’ shares. An offence is committed even if the person to whom the information is provided is told not to trade in the shares until a public announcement is made, if it is thought likely that the person will disregard that instruction.

The Corporations Act provides that the information becomes “generally available” once it has been published and enough time has elapsed for it to be disseminated in the market.

The prohibition on insider trading and tipping applies not only to Vectus Directors and staff, but also to anyone outside Vectus who has non-public information that may affect the price of Vectus’ shares. In addition, it is possible that Vectus employees could be aware of non-public, price-sensitive information relating to other listed companies that, if shares in that company were purchased, could breach the insider trading restrictions (for example, a company with which Vectus is considering entering into a major contract).

Analyst and Institutional Briefings

The ASIC Guidance Paper dealing with the selective disclosure of information to institutional investors and analysts addresses ASIC’s concern that ordinary shareholders have a perception that significant information is disclosed by listed companies to analysts and institutions such that they can profit by trading on that information at the expense of the ordinary shareholders. ASIC is concerned that this perception could cause ordinary shareholders to lose trust in the fairness of the market place. In this regard, ASIC notes that documents lodged with the ASX are often supplemented with more comprehensive background information provided to analysts and institutions at private briefings. To this end, ASIC suggests that:

- information disclosed to the ASX be added to the releasing company’s website (following ASX acknowledgement of receipt and release to the market); and
- non-material information and supplementary material made available to institutions and analysts be made available to shareholders and the wider investment community on the disclosing company’s website.

ASIC’s focus is on giving investors access to all significant information disclosed to analysts or institutions that is not already publicly available, regardless of whether it is considered price-sensitive. ASIC considers it is good practice to provide shareholders with access to all significant background information that is provided to analysts and institutions.

Information Disclosure Programme Procedures

As will be apparent from the above, it is essential for Vectus’ disclosure system to ensure:

- that a breach of ASX Listing Rule 3.1 does not occur; and
- that information is made available to all investors equally.

Appendix H

BOARD CHARTER

Purpose

This Charter sets out a framework to assist the Board of Vectus Biosystems Limited (Vectus or the Company) to provide strategic guidance to the Company and effective oversight of its management, for the benefit of Shareholders and other stakeholders. The framework adopts principles of good corporate governance and is designed to maximise the Company's compliance with best practice requirements and its legal obligations, including under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) and the ASX Listing Rules.

Who Does this Board Charter Apply to?

The Company's Board of Directors has adopted this Board Charter, which applies to all members of the Board and executive officers / senior management of the Company.

Composition of the Board

The Board of the Company will be composed of a majority of Non-Executive Directors (including the office of Chairman) and at least one Executive Director, normally the CEO / Managing Director and such other Directors as determined from time-to-time by the Board. The members of the Board will have an appropriate and broad range of qualifications and expertise. The Board will review the independence of each Director from time-to-time. In determining the independence of a Director, the Board will consider the effect of a Director's business, and other relationships and interests, from both the Company's and the Director's perspectives. In particular, the Board will have regard to whether the Director:

- is, or has been, employed in an executive capacity by the entity or any of its child entities and there has not been a period of at least three years between ceasing such employment and serving on the Board;
- is, or has within the last three years been, a partner, director or senior employee of a provider of material professional services to the entity or any of its child entities;

- is a substantial security holder of the entity or an officer of, or otherwise associated with, a substantial security holder of the entity;
- has a material contractual relationship with the entity or its child entities other than as a director;
- has close family ties with any person who falls within any of the categories described above; or
- has been a Director of the entity for such a period that his or her independence may have been compromised.

The Board may also delegate specified responsibilities to ad hoc committees from time-to-time. Formal Charters setting out the objectives, scope and administration of each Committee have been created. Directors

Role of Individual Directors

The Company encourages Directors to question, request information, raise issues of concern, consider and canvas any issue facing the Company and cast their vote on any resolution in accordance with their own independent judgment. Outside the Boardroom, Directors should support the letter and spirit of Board decisions.

Confidentiality

Directors must maintain the confidentiality of Board discussions, deliberations and decisions that have not been publicly disclosed by the Company. Confidential information that Directors receive in the course of the exercise of their directorial duties remains the property of the Company. It is improper for a Director to disclose confidential information, or allow it to be disclosed to any third party, unless such disclosure has been properly authorised, or is required by law or the rules of a stock exchange, such as the ASX.

Legal Duties

In order to fulfil their legal and statutory requirements, Directors of the Company must:

- avoid conflicts of interest;
- act for the benefit of the Company at all times;
- not make improper use of information obtained in the course of acting as a Director of the Company;
- not take improper advantage of the position of being a Director;
- make reasonable enquiries to ensure that the Company is operating efficiently, effectively and legally towards achieving its goals;
- diligently analyse all proposals placed before the Board; and
- not purport to bind the Company unless expressly authorised to do so by the Board.

Directors decide which matters of the Company are delegated to management, and must ensure that the delegates are reliable and competent, and that adequate procedures are in place to oversee their exercise of the delegated powers.

Conflicts of Interest

Under the Corporations Act, Directors are required to disclose any conflicts of interest and to refrain from participating in any deliberations or voting upon matters in which they have a material personal interest. In circumstances where a Director considers that they have a conflict of interest, the Director must:

- disclose to the Board any actual or potential conflicts of interest that may exist or might reasonably be perceived to exist, as soon as they arise;
- if deemed appropriate by the Board or the Director, take such steps as are necessary and reasonable to resolve any conflict of interest within a reasonable period of time; and
- comply with the provisions of the Corporations Act regarding the disclosure of interests and restrictions on voting.

Overview of Senior Management

In addition to the regular presentations that senior management make at Board meetings, Directors may request briefings from senior management on specific issues through the Executive Director/s. Management is required to advise the Executive Director/s of all discussions with Directors relevant to the business of the Company.

Remuneration and Retirement

The Board determines Directors' remuneration from time-to-time subject to the aggregate cap on Non-Executive Directors' remuneration set pursuant to rule 6.3 of the Constitution of the Company. The tenure of the Managing Director is linked with his / her executive office. All other Directors, including other Executive Directors, are subject to re-election each year by rotation (such that at each Annual General Meeting one-third of the Directors for the time being, or, if their number is not three nor a multiple of three, then the number nearest one-third and rounded down, and any other Director who has held office for three years or more since last being elected, must retire from office). The Directors to retire by rotation are those who have been in office for the longest period of time since the date of their last election. The Chairman may negotiate the retirement or resignation of individual Directors following consultation with the Board. Generally, the Board's policy on the tenure of Non-Executive Directors is that no Non-Executive Director should serve more than three consecutive terms of three years.

Indemnities and Insurance

According to rule 12 of the Constitution of the Company, the Company may indemnify any current or former Director, Company Secretary or executive officer of the Company, or of a related body corporate out of the property of the Company against:

- every liability incurred by the person in that capacity (except a liability for legal costs); and
- all legal costs incurred in defending or resisting (or otherwise in connection with) proceedings, whether civil or criminal, or of an administrative or investigatory nature, in which the person becomes involved because of that capacity, except to the extent that:
 - o the Company is forbidden by statute to indemnify the person against the liability or legal costs; or
 - o an indemnity by the Company of the person against the liability or legal costs would, if given, be made void by statute.

According to rule 12 of the Constitution of the Company, the Company may pay or agree to pay, whether directly or through an interposed entity, a premium for a contract insuring a person who is or has been a Director, Company Secretary or executive officer of the Company, or of a related body corporate of the Company against liability incurred by the person in that capacity, including a liability for legal costs, unless:

- the Company is forbidden by statute to pay or agree to pay the premium; or
- the contract would, if the Company paid the premium, be made void by statute.

PRIVACY POLICY

1. General

Vectus Biosystems Limited (Vectus, the Company or VBS) is committed to protecting the privacy of all the individuals it has dealings with and set out below are the Company's policies on handling personal information.

2. The Purpose of the Policy

Vectus is a corporate group in the healthcare industry, which researches, develops, manufactures and markets products that are used to treat serious and rare conditions, particularly fibrosis and produces and sells the Accugen reagents and software. Vectus collects and holds personal information necessary to carry out its business. As part of that undertaking, the Company is committed to safeguarding the privacy of the personal information that is gathered. We require that those who deal with Vectus understand and agree that the Company collects, uses and may disclose personal information in accordance with this Policy. This Policy gives effect to Vectus' commitment to protect personal information and has been adopted by Vectus and its subsidiary Accugen Pty Ltd.

3. The Scope of the Policy

This Policy applies to personal information regarding shareholders, industry professionals, customers, other third party business associates, employees and others and to the management of that personal information. The purpose of this Policy is to explain the types of information that Vectus collects, what is done with that information, and with this information if it is shared.

This Policy is intended to establish a standard for Vectus' information processing activities, those processing activities may be more limited in some jurisdictions as the Company grows and operates internationally and is restricted by the laws of overseas countries. If the laws of an overseas country limit the types of personal information the Company can collect or the manner in which it can be processed. In those instances, VBS will comply with relevant local laws and regulations.

4. Information Types

The term "personal information" under this Policy refers to information about an identifiable individual. The types of personal information that the Company processes (which may vary depending on the relationship with Vectus as well as by jurisdiction based on applicable law) may include, among others, contact information (such as name, postal or email address, and telephone or facsimile number), business contact information (such as job title, medical specialty, department and name of organisation), or other information (such as language preference, date of birth, gender and family status).

Vectus collects personal information directly from individuals when necessary to provide its services, including as part of responding to queries from individuals, VBS recruitment processes, ongoing employment activities, conducting clinical trials, communication with health and allied professionals about the Company's products and services, conducting marketing activities and organising conferences, seminars and other meetings, and receiving medical queries and adverse drug reports.

There may be instances in which the personal information that we collect, use, and process is considered "sensitive personal information" under the privacy laws of some countries. The definition of “sensitive personal information” under these privacy laws may, for instance, include personal information from which VBS can determine or infer an individual’s racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs, or medical or judicial data. Vectus only collects, uses, and processes “sensitive personal information” in a jurisdiction if and to the extent permitted or required by applicable law.

5. Use of Personal Information Obtained

Vectus collects and uses personal information to the extent necessary to provide products and services for its potential patients, customers, employees and others. Subject to applicable laws, VBS may collect, use, process and disclose relevant portions of personal information in order to:

- administer, operate, facilitate and manage the relationship with Vectus. This may include sharing such information internally as well as disclosing it to third parties, as described below;
- give the provider or, if applicable, the designated representative(s) with information (including marketing information) or contact the provider by post, telephone, electronic mail, facsimile, etc. in connection with the relationship; and
- facilitate Vectus’ internal business operations, including fulfilling the Company’s legal and regulatory requirements.

6. Disclosure of Any Personal Information

In order to provide products and services, more than one entity within Vectus may be given, or given access to, personal information. When personal information is shared, Vectus adheres to applicable legal requirements regarding the protection of personal information.

VBS may outsource the processing of certain functions and/or information to third parties (including, but not limited to, mail-out companies, agencies engaged to organise conferences and database managers who maintain and update contract information and who may contact you independently to verify that information or contact preferences). When Vectus contracts with other companies to provide services to Vectus and then provides or allows access to personal information to such third party service providers for that purpose, VBS requires those companies to protect the information and adhere to applicable data privacy standards.

Vectus and third parties to whom any personal information is provided are currently located in countries including, but not limited to: Australia, Canada, China, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Japan, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the United States of America.

The Company reserves the right to disclose any personal information if Vectus is compelled to do so by a court of law or requested to do so by governmental authorities or if it is determined it is necessary or desirable to comply with the law or to protect or defend Vectus’ rights or property in accordance with applicable laws. VBS also reserves the right to retain personal information collected and to process such personal information to comply with accounting, tax rules and regulations and any specific record retention laws.

Circumstances may arise where, whether for strategic or other business reasons, Vectus decides to sell, buy, merge or otherwise reorganise its businesses. Such a transaction may involve the disclosure of personal information to prospective or actual purchasers, or the receipt of it from sellers.

7. International Data Sharing and Processing

Like most international businesses, certain aspects of VBS data processing activities will result in the transfer of personal information from one country to another. The jurisdictions where that information will be processed may or may not have laws that seek to preserve the privacy of personal information. Nevertheless, whenever any personal information is transferred within Vectus, any personal information will be processed in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Policy and all applicable laws.

8. Choice of Information Provided

Parties may always choose what personal information (if any) they wish to provide to Vectus. If a party chooses not to provide certain details, some of the experiences with Vectus may be affected (for example, the Vectus group cannot take an order for the sale of an Accugen product without a name). If contact details are provided to Vectus (e.g., postal or email address, telephone number or facsimile number), VBS may contact a potential customer to let them know about the products, services, promotions and events offered that the Company thinks may be of interest.

In some jurisdictions, data privacy laws may require Vectus to obtain consent before VBS, for instance, sends information that may not have been specifically requested. In certain circumstances, that consent may be implied (e.g., where communications are required in order to fulfil requests and/or where information have volunteered information for use by Vectus). In other cases, VBS may seek consent expressly in accordance with applicable laws (e.g., where the information collected is regarded to be of a sensitive nature under local regulations).

9. Data Accuracy and Access

Vectus strives to keep personal information accurate and provide individuals with reasonable access to any personal information so that it can be reviewed and corrected, or ask Vectus not to use it. VBS does not charge for this service and will respond to reasonable requests in an appropriate timeframe. If a party wishes to exercise rights of access and correction in accordance with applicable law, please contact Vectus at the address set out below.

10. Other Applicable Terms and Changes to this Policy

This Policy provides a general statement of the ways in which Vectus protects personal information. This Policy does not modify or alter any applicable agreement you have or may have with Vectus. This Policy may be changed from time to time to reflect changes in Vectus' practices concerning the collection and use of personal information. This Policy has an effective date of 27 September 2018.

11. Request for Access to Personal Information; Questions Or Complaints

If you have any questions about privacy, or any privacy concerns or complaints, please contact the Vectus Privacy Officer by sending an email to the Privacy Officer at: info@vectusbiosystems.com.au. All requests for access to any personal information held by Vectus must be submitted in writing by letter or email.

12. Security and Management of Personal Information

Vectus will take reasonable steps to protect the personal information we hold from misuse and loss and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. The way this is done includes:

- limiting physical access to the Company's premises, the Vectus website and its

- electronic data;
- limiting access to the information the Company collects about personnel (for instance, only those of Vectus' personnel who need the information to carry out the Company's business activities are allowed access);
- requiring any third party providers to have acceptable security measures to keep personal information secure; and
- putting in place physical, electronic and procedural safeguards in line with industry standards.

Disclosure Committee Charter

1. PURPOSE OF THIS DOCUMENT

Vectus Biosystems Limited (Vectus or the Company) has a practice of emailing all ASX announcements to its Board within a reasonable time for receipt of comments and approval before release to the market. With Directors often travelling interstate and overseas, a Disclosure Committee was appointed by the Board as a fallback position, where there is an urgent announcement or when Directors are travelling, to assist it in discharging the Board's responsibilities of overseeing and approving proposed ASX releases. Draft ASX announcements are still sent to all Directors for their review, but will be signed off by the Disclosure Committee if all Directors have not responded by the designated time due to their unavailability. The purpose of the Committee is to assist the Board with:

- a) reviewing and approving proposed ASX releases; and
- b) fulfilling its governance and oversight accountabilities, having regard to an appropriate review of ASX announcements.

2. BACKGROUND TO THIS POLICY

On 1 December 2019 ASX proceeded with proposed changes to Listing Rule 15.5 that if a document is for release to the market it should include, or be sent under, a covering letter that includes the name, title and contact of the person who security holders and other interested parties can contact if they have questions.

Listing Rule 15.5(c) requires listed companies to advise the name of the body who authorised the document to be given to ASX. This body can include the Board, a Committee or Sub-Committee of the Board, or a Disclosure Committee of the Board.

ASX Listing Rule 15.5

A document given by an entity to ASX must:

- (a) include, or be sent with a covering letter that includes, the entity's name, address and corporate logo, unless a form prescribed by the Listing Rules or an Australian law is used;
- (b) be dated;
- (c) identify the title of the body, or the name and title of the officer, of the entity who authorised the document to be given to ASX; and
- (d) if the document is an announcement under Listing Rule 3.1, include the name, title and contact details of a person who security holders or other interested parties can contact if they have any queries.

Introduced 01/07/96 Origin: Listing Rule 3J(1)(c) Amended 01/12/19

Note: The reference in Listing Rule 15.5(c) to a body who authorised the document to be given to ASX includes the board, a committee or sub-committee of the board, or a disclosure committee of the entity.

Listing Rule 15.5 does not apply to a document given to ASX electronically using a facility referred to in Rule 15.3(b)(i).

Introduced 01/07/00 Amended 01/12/19

3. AUTHORITY

The Board authorises the Committee to:

- a) perform activities identified within this Charter; and
- b) seek any information it requires from any officer or employee of the Company, including information concerning the matters in the proposed ASX announcement.

4. MEMBERSHIP

The Committee will be composed of not less than three members, one of whom will be a Non-Executive Director of the Company, and will normally also include the Chairman and the Executive Director. The Chairperson of the Committee will be elected by the members at each meeting. The Company Secretary will act as the Secretary of the Committee, unless otherwise determined by the Committee.

5. COMMITTEE MEETINGS

The quorum required for a meeting of the Committee will be two members.

The Committee will meet as often as the Committee members deem necessary to discharge its role effectively.
